DESCRIPTION

Sacco beanbag designed in 1968 by Piero Gatti, Cesare Paolini and Franco Teodoro and manufactured by Zanotta.

Made from a flexible white vinyl cover filled with expanded polystyrene pellets, the Sacco has no rigid structure and adapts to the shape of the body according to the user's position.

An iconic example of late 1960s Italian Radical Design, the Sacco is represented in the collections of the Centre Pompidou in Paris and the Museum of Modern Art (MoMA) in New York.

Manufacturer: Zanotta, Italy, circa 1970
