DESCRIPTION

Set of six "Trix" model chairs designed by Karl Friedrich Förster for KFF Design, Germany, circa 1988.

Made of brushed tubular steel and red lacquered plywood, these chairs reflect the postmodern spirit of the late 1980s. Their geometric silhouette, with twin curved backrests, combines structural precision with visual lightness. The gently curved seat and KFF's impeccable craftsmanship make this a defining example of German design from that era.

These chairs exemplify Förster's approach, merging sculpture and furniture design, and mark the creative beginnings of the KFF Design workshop founded in 1984 in Lemgo, Germany.

Brushed steel and red lacquered plywood.
