DESCRIPTION

Modernist daybed envisioned by Swedish designer Bengt Ruda in the 1960s, epitomizing the distinctive design of its era.

Crafted with a teak frame supported by four gracefully tapered legs, the head and footboard showcase a crisscross pattern in lacquered black metal. The button-tufted mattress has been reupholstered with Mont Blanc wool from Maison Nobilis, resting atop original springs in excellent condition.

Two units are available for individual purchase.

These daybeds embody elegance, thoughtful design, and functionality, making them a charming addition to any interior.

Manufacturer: Triva - NK Verkstader Nykoping, Sweden, circa 1960.
