DESCRIPTION

SCAL daybed designed by Jean Prouvé, in the version featuring a swiveling side table designed in collaboration with Charlotte Perriand, circa 1955.

The black lacquered metal structure supports a black button-tufted mattress and cylindrical bolster. Wooden end panels frame the bed, while the pivoting wooden side table provides a small integrated surface accessible directly from the daybed.

This version combines Jean Prouvé's rational approach to construction with Charlotte Perriand's research into use and the versatility of domestic furniture.

Seat height : 16.2 inches.

Manufacturer: Steph Simon, circa 1955.
