DESCRIPTION

Vase of a truncated cone shape created by Daniel de Montmollin in the 1970s, which perfectly embodies the refined and spiritual style of the Swiss ceramist, a member of the monastic community of Taizé.

With a slightly bulging wavy cone shape, it gently flares towards the top and is entirely made of stoneware with a deep green glaze, finely speckled, evoking the subtle nuances of nature that the artist so cherished.

Incised underneath: 'TAIZE DANIEL'.

Manufacturer: Atelier de Taizé.
